

Falcon Point's Microcap Growth Strategy in Barron's top ten performers for the first quarter.

Falcon Point Capital's new Microcap Growth strategy rose 18.6% (gross) in the first quarter of 2013, placing it in the top ten funds in Barron's institutional rankings. The strategy was launched in June of 2011 and has returned 22.2% since inception, 740 basis point above its Russell Microcap Growth benchmark. James Bitzer, Senior Managing Director and Portfolio Manager on the strategy said, "While we were pleased with the strong start to 2013 and the excellent returns since the strategy's inception, our goal is to outperform the benchmark over the long term." Michael Thomas, another portfolio manager at Falcon Point, said "the strategy utilizes Falcon Point Capital's time-tested, disciplined and fundamental investment process which has produced excellent returns for our other strategies over the years."

Similar to Falcon Point Capital's other strategies, the team uses a focused approach to constructing a portfolio, selecting the most attractive securities, typically 30-50 stocks across all sectors. The strategy has over $80 million of AUM today and will likely be closed once it reaches $350 million. It is a separate account structure and open to institutional investors or family offices with an initial investment of $3 million or more.
